Q: Bookshelf.js - how to get individual attributes of an object? I am trying to use Bookshelf.js to search users by attributes, as described in this answer. I have looked at the documentation, but cannot find any example of how to retrieve the attributes of a single object. As per my understanding, I can either retrieve the entire users object from my collection, or I can search for a specific id, as follows: `User.findById(1).fetch()` However, I'd like to access the attributes directly, so I can loop through each individual record, as follows:

User.findById(1).fetch().forEach(function(user) { console.log(user.name) });

Is this a valid approach? Is there a way to do what I'm looking for using Bookshelf? A: As mentioned in the comment, you can get list of the user's attributes with the following: `User.getAttributes({ where: {userId: 1}, include: ["userName"] })`.then(function(list) { console.log(list.userName); }); In this case, you will get an array of user names like: [" 388ed7b0c7

Q: How to create a file in web server only with codeigniter I have an app built with codeigniter. The app creates a database, database security is required so i need to add the database security to the upload folder. But i don't want anyone to upload the files, i want the files to be created on the server only, once the user logs in. There are many techniques on the internet but i cant find a right one for my project. I'm not very familliar with the codeigniter structure. A: You can easily use the CodeIgniter File Upload Class for a simple upload script for an arbitrary directory on your server: // Set our upload folder $this->upload_path = './upload/'; // Get the upload directory and path $this->upload_tmp_path = sys_get_temp_dir(); $this->upload_tmp_name = $this->upload_path. uniqid(). '.'. basename($_FILES['userfile']['name']); // Is $_FILES['userfile'] filled with an array? if (is_array($_FILES['userfile']['name'])) { // Upload file $this->upload_data = $_FILES['userfile']; // Send file to upload folder if (move_uploaded_file($_FILES['userfile']['tmp_name'], $this->upload_tmp_name)) { // Now if a file or folder has been uploaded, move it to the correct directory $this->do_file_move('upload', $this->upload_tmp_name, $this->upload_path); } // Display a message to the user $this->user_msg = 'Thank you, file upload finished'; // Redirect user to the specified page redirect($this->upload_tmp_name,'refresh'); } The upload function will place the uploaded file in the given temporary directory (NOTE: If the temporary folder is not writable, the uploaded file will be copied to the "runtime" folder (..\system

The highway is a four-lane divided highway as it approaches the St. Croix River. The St. Croix River Trail crosses the highway and becomes SR 104, which heads into downtown St. Croix. The expressway designation continues north as SR 44, with SR 124 continuing northwest. SR 124 crosses the St. Croix River on the St. Croix Falls Bridge. The highway has a grade crossing with the St. Croix and Northern Railroad and crosses into Canada. History SR 124 was originally built from downtown Northfield to the Canada-US border as part of a relocation project. The relocation project, which was a joint effort of the state of Maine and Canadian and U.S. governments, was completed in 1972. The highway was redesignated as SR 124 after this.
